

CCSO Timeline

1995: Tyler joins LEO employment at 19-years-old - she was known as the first “female deputy to look like a female” in OK by her peers - she noted that it was hard to get people to take her seriously. The sentiments there were that “Women only belong in Law Enforcement(LE) to take out the trash.”

1998: Sheriff Burnett starts his career with the CCSO

May 1, 2003: Custer County Sheriff Burgess gropes Tyler as she tries on uniform pants before her first day of work as a Sheriff's Deputy for Custer County - he was 50 she was 27. This harassment continues through her employment at this office.

May 17, 2004: Deputy Aaron Seabright is hired by the CCSO

2005: Deputy Tyler is asked to apply at the CCSO and does a ride along - Tyler accepts invitation to apply after she believes the work environment will be better.

Aug 2006: Deputy Tyler is hired by the CCSO under Sheriff Harum - moves 2,000 miles to get away from harassment in OK - she is immediately offered two call sign numbers and only two, though there were others available at the time - K63 or K69. K63 was the call sign of a deputy that committed suicide with his service weapon. It is tradition to retire call signs when an officer is killed in the line of duty, but a suicide was not considered “something reputable” to die of so it was not retired. The service weapon used by the deputy to end his life was also kept in circulation. Tyler had two untenable options in front of her: debase herself and publicly be considered the sex call sign as a minority deputy (and never be taken seriously) in the department or retraumatize the mother of the deputy who worked in juvenile services and would potentially come across the call sign in reports. Tyler chose K63. She soon finds out that the CCSO was being “sued by a woman” and the reason she was hired was solely because it would look better to hire a woman to add to the perception that they weren't discriminatory.

April 2008: Sheriff Burgess in OK is accused of raping inmates with a flashlight - Tyler declines to testify but helps them locate a key piece of evidence -the flashlight used on the inmates - soon after the flashlight goes missing from the Custer County Sheriff's evidence room - Tyler agrees to testify because without that evidence the prosecutors told her Burgess would walk

January 2009: Tyler takes leave and quietly testifies against Burgess as a victim in the trial and also as the arresting officer of some of the women attacked. She did not directly tell her superiors what she was doing in order to keep her name out of the press - she knows that testifying against a fellow LEO, even criminals like Burgess, is considered crossing the thin blue line and could get her harassment at the CCSO - Tyler receives a call from a peer deputy at the CCSO asking if she's in OK testifying at a trial, they had heard about the trial and her name linked to it.

Tyler knew it was possible she would be committing “career suicide” by doing the right thing, but she says she couldn’t have “lived with herself if she didn’t testify”.

Mar 24, 2009: Burgess gets 79 years in prison and convicted of 13 felony counts

March 2009: When Tyler returns from the trial, the work environment takes a steep turn for the worse. For the most part over the previous three years at the CCSO, Tyler had been able to foster great working relationships with her peers. Suddenly, no one would talk to her and her working conditions became untenable.

May 2010: One year after Burgess’s conviction the missing flashlight from the criminal trial is found in the Custer County Sheriff’s Office evidence room during a second civil trial - it tested positive for sets of DNA - Tyler is compelled by the prosecution to testify at the civil trial in which she had refused - Tyler declined any settlement as she did not want to testify.

November 2010: Sheriff Harum fired Tyler claiming she was being “untruthful in obtaining an email during a disagreement” with a supervisor.

November 02, 2010: Sheriff Harum loses election to Brian Burnett

2011: Undersheriff Wisemore signs a document that all weapons are accounted for in the Armory

Dec 20, 2011: Grace City Church then Grace Covenant Church operating out of the Free Methodist(Free Meth) church begins planting their church, uploads their first video to YouTube. Though according to a later ground breaking date they started in 2008.

Early May 2013: An M16 goes missing from the the Grant County Sheriff’s Office Armory

May 2013: An M16 goes missing from the East Wenatchee Police Department but was later found after an extensive search in a locker not normally used to store weapons

End of May 2013: Tyler rejoins the CCSO

Aug 2013: Sgt Harris opens official investigation into missing M16

Dec 2013: Tyler files suit against the CCSO for retaliation specifically against the Burnett administration and Burnett himself when he declined to allow Tyler her original night shift so she could be home during the day with her disabled daughter. The lawsuit was also on the grounds that she was mistreated by him and her co-workers after her court testimony in 2008, which helped convict the Custer County sheriff. The mistreatment continued and worsened after she returned under the leadership of Burnett 7 months prior.

Soon after announcing the lawsuit a new CCSO deputy was hired: Deputy Danne Dunlap.

2014: Undersheriff John Wisemore tells the Army that the missing M16 was “nonfunctional and had been destroyed” - Mike Morrison is “forced” to be Jennifer Tyler’s partner as the deputies were “shunning” her

Jan 2014: Sgt Harris completes missing weapon investigation and reports that he found no evidence of a log that the weapon was nonfunctional or destroyed. This report by Harris led the US Dept of Defense to suspend the CCSO from the 1033 program which allowed local LEO agencies to request military-grade weapons, vehicles, and armor at little to no cost.

Feb 5, 2014: As a drug recognition expert and instructor since 1998-1999, Harris requested new drugs be supplied for teaching a drug class - Wisemore began an investigation into Harris’ intended use for the drugs

Feb 18, 2014: In a meeting with both Burnett and Wisemore, Harris was informed they thought he was lying about the intended use for the drugs and that he would use them for his personal drug teaching business which was against policy. At this time they threatened to demote him from chief of patrol or ask him to resign and keep his rank.

Feb 26, 2014: Harris took the demotion and resigned as chief of patrol effective Mar 1, 2014 - though there was no internal investigation nor a determination made Burnett placed Harris on the Brady list at that time. This is a list of LEOs in which their credibility is called into question were he ever to testify in court... for anything. This status was later publicly reported in local newspapers - defaming Harris.

At some point in 2014 Deputy Jennifer Tyler was also arbitrarily added to the Brady list for alleged “untruthfulness”, even though Harum, in the arbitration that exonerated her before reinstatement in 2013, stated that her actions in 2010 did not qualify as Brady material.

June 6, 2014: Deputy Carl Mohns handed his personal firearm, a 380-caliber semi-automatic, to Deputy Lee Risdon, “who had also been consuming alcohol,” according to Chelan County Sheriff’s records. Risdon then took the gun, got down on the ground, put it into the swimming pool, and fired. Eight-to-10 people gathered around and cheered. Deputy Dan McCue was also in the crowd, allowing and encouraging this behavior. All three were not formally reprimanded until one year later, after the incident was made public. The three deputies disputed the reprimands.

Sept 9, 2014: Undersheriff Wisemore repeats the unfounded information that the M16 was “probably” destroyed to local newspapers.

Nov 2014: The CCSO began alleging “untruthfulness” against Harris and violations of overtime violations. An investigation was launched.

Nov 2014: Deputy Shepard was certified in K9 handling with K9 Reno.

2015: After patrolling with Tyler for a year, Mike Morrison actively applies to have her for a partner, seeing that she was a good asset to the Department

Jan 2015: Harris was placed on administrative leave

Feb 2015: A Loudermill hearing, an internal required process that must be provided to public employees prior to removing or impacting their employment rights, was conducted for Harris.

Feb 26, 2015: Musgrove named Dpty of the year for 2014

Mar 20, 2015: A second hearing was held for Harris and that internal process determined that Harris violated policies

Mar 31, 2015: Harris was terminated from the CCSO - Burnett stated it was because Harris lied in email requests for drug samples from the CCSO evidence department and alleged violations of overtime rules - an arbitrator later ruled the department had no just cause for the firing and reinstated him in 2016.

June 17, 2015: Grace City Church buys a plot of land to plant their church for $765,000

Aug 19, 2015: Sgt Zimmerman and then Deputy Musgrove filed a formal complaint against Deputy Jennifer Tyler stating that she did not say “Hi” to them or return a greeting. Musgrove specifically said that Tyler issued a “look of disgust” at Zimmerman. After constant comments and sexual harassment from her peers, talking about how she looked, her butt, and any aspect of her body they felt like for years and under three different Sheriffs: these two LEOs thought that because she didn’t acknowledge them, it was worth of a formal complaint.

Dec 15, 2015: Deputy Shepard was awarded the Proactive Traffic award at the Night of 1000 stars

2016: Mike Morrison was blocked from requesting Tyler as a partner do to some new K9 policy: Tyler was assigned to Aaron Shepard - Deputy Aaron Shepard leaves Grace City Church

Mar 9, 2016: Detective Carlos Rodriguez negligently hits and kills his K9 partner, Reefer

March 10-17, 2016: Undersheriff Jason Mathews fails to tell the whole truth and misleads the public by saying Reefer the K9 was hit by an SUV, not including that he was hit by his own partner and Detective of the CCSO - Mathews writes an email to Sheriff Burnett letting him know that he did it on purpose because he "didn't want to give them Carlos' name".

Mar 23, 2016: Detective Rodriguez reapplies to be a K9 handler, failing to disclose on that application that he was responsible for Reefer's death - merely stating that he graduated with his K9 Reefer and they were "certified as a team until his death in March 2016" man deliberately drives his Dodge Charger into a crowd of the anti-racist counter protesters, killing one 32-year-old woman and injuring more than 19 others.

Aug 30, 2017: Adam Musgrove promoted to Sergeant.

Sept 11, 2017: A Chelan County Sheriff employee (Who has yet to be officially named) shared a post from the Chelan County Emergency Management facebook page, generally reserved for emergencies information, with a picture of protesters being hit by a car with the tagline "All Lives Splatter, nobody cares about your protest, keep your add out of the road" - less than one month from the white supremacist Unite the Right Rally that ended in a counter protester being deliberately hit and killed by a car in Charlottesville, Va. It's to be noted, that even after finishing this nearly 10million dollar project, the assessed value of 277 Melody lane, the current location of the church is still - to this day - only $149,000. They are paying less in property taxes than I am on my house even though the project was completed not long after breaking ground.

He spoke to the supervisor Sgt Brent Frank, let him know what the others said, and Frank told him he needed to get pictures to investigate. When he arrived, other emergency services and paramedics made it clear they would not re-enter and gave him protective

At this time, Pastor Josh McPherson also focused on the laws passed in the wake of the George Floyd Protests which are perceived by many LEOs to "hamstring" their ability to do their jobs. After he's finished with his anti-government propaganda speech he prays over the 50 plus attendees at which time Sgt Chris Foreman is loudly participating and crying.

Another GCC affiliated Wenatchee PD Officer Justin Kissel took the mic after the prayer and invited everyone to their church's men's group that would be meeting in the mornings before training started. Christ Church, known colloquially to locals of Moscow as "Mother Kirk," is an extremist Calvinist sect led by Douglas Wilson. Wilson has received international attention for his defense of slavery. He has also dismissed the idea of marital rape. A man "can't trespass in his own garden," he infamously wrote on the topic. He has also gone to bat for sexual predators and is listed as a "guest lecturer" in Grace City Church's Vector Academy marketing booklet, which is how I first learned about him.

The same month of September 2021, Sheriff Brian Burnett shows up in a picture for GCC's "anchored youth" camp on Grace City church's website. GCC over those who do not attend the church - and is a hostile work environment for anyone who does not attend GCC. (use pictures of the complaints - and read them) One person even stated that the "God Squad has a firm grip on what direction" the department is heading. Concerns over lack of integrity about people on the promotion list are repeated by many of the personnel.

Sept 6, 2022: Deputy Seabright makes a phone call to follow-up on a trespassing complaint of a Chelan County Resident and rants to the caller about the new laws handed down by "Olympia" regarding drugs and "homeless people". Seabright continued using a lot of overall anti-government language stating that if he found someone with a "ball of heroin" he would have to let them walk and encouraged this citizen to "vote different" which they took to mean vote for Republicans. It is to be noted that no drugs were referenced during the trespassing complaint and the perpetrator was assumed to be homeless - but no drugs were involved.
